8 NAZI DIVISIONS FACE TRAP

Trap Set for 8 Nazi Divisions

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 27 (AP)—Fifth Army troops occupied Sezze, 13 miles northwest of Terracina, today in a drive to join other forces widening a deep salient from the former Anzio beachhead, a penetration which already is within 2½ miles of cutting the Via Casilina, main escape route for a major part of the German 10th army.

Sezze, a city of 20,000, is the largest taken in the current offensive.

Advance units of the beachhead force, pushing out 12 miles, threatened to cut the Via Casilina below Valmontone—a blow that would imperil the retreat of at least eight Nazi divisions battling desperately since the breakthrough of the Hitler line.

Capture of Sezze brought American forces squarely up against the latest defenses two Nazi divisions tried to establish in the Lepini hills north and east of the Pontine marshes to protect the Germans' flank in the Liri valley and their retreat route on Via Casilina toward Rome.

PERIL, 8 NAZI DIVISIONS

The American armored force founding upon Valmontone was continuing its thrust today. The advance yesterday carried it to the vicinity of Artena, 2½ miles below Valmontone.

Of the 17 Nazi divisions engaged below Rome, eight are in a line where their escape would be highly complicated by cutting of the Via Casilina. They have other alternative retreat routes, but these could be easily clogged and the Germans probably would be forced to lose many men and much equipment.

Thirty-six miles southeast of this spearpoint flung out of the Anzio beachhead, Germans on the main front were defeated in heavy tank fighting and fell back, leaving much equipment, including tanks.

Clark's reconnaissance troops in the Artena area, pacing the drive from the beachhead, had advanced about 12 and a half miles north of the former beachhead perimeter after the Allies beat back sharp enemy counter-attacks in which 15 huge Tiger tanks participated.

Surging up the Liri valley, the Eighth Army defeated the Germans in a furious tank battle west of the Melfa river, knocking out 12 tanks.

Then Canadian and British forces pushed to within two miles of Arce, near the confluence of the Liri and Sacco rivers, and to within two or three miles of Caprano, important road junction on the Cassino-Rome highway.

F. D. Going to See Part of Invasion?

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Suggesting that this summer's Allied operations against Hitler Europe be described as liberation rather than invasion, President Roosevelt has left open the possibility he might be close at hand to see some of it happen.

Bulgars Desert Army In Mass, Morale Low

BARI, Italy, May 27 (AP)—Mass desertions by Bulgarian troops in southeastern Yugoslavia were reported by the headquarters of the Yugoslav Partisan military mission today, with a spokesman asserting that morale is weakening noticeably as tension mounts in the Balkans.

Whole platoons and companies are deserting, the spokesman said.

ITALY—Arrow of upper left indicates where Fifth Army units today were reported in the vicinity of Artena, thrusting close to Via Casilina, last German escape route from the main front. Other Fifth Army troops captured Pastina and approached Piverno. Canadian and British forces pushed to within two miles of Arce.

INVASION NEARING

Fortress Built Around Paris

BARCELONA, May 27 (AP)—The Germans have heavily fortified Paris for a street by street defense and are preparing to transfer all the Vichy governmental services to within the fortress built around the French capital, direct reports from France said today.

Modernizing the strong system of forts built around the city after the war of 1870, the Germans have interlarded them with a network of blockhouses, trenches, barbed-wire entanglements and anti-tank obstacles, the reports said.

4th Warning To Underground

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Europeans were warned today to keep off the roads when Allied armies of invasion strike into the continent. A spokesman from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters gave these instructions in the fourth of the series of instructional broadcasts beamed to the European underground:

"When the uniformed forces arrive the fighting may pass through your district. This will be the time when you will be able to give them the most trouble and obstruct their progress."

"In the common interest therefore at that time do not on any account leave the neighborhood of your village or town."

"Do not let the Germans entice you onto the road. It is there that the greatest danger lies. They will, as always, use you for their own purposes."

"The safest place against bombardment is anywhere below ground level."

"The cellar is the safest place in the house."

Narrow trenches and sunken roads also were recommended for shelter.

Report Reds Launch Drive

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—David Anderson in a NBC report from London quoted the Vichy radio today as saying the Russians have started an offensive on the eastern front.

No details were given and there was no confirmation from any other source.

Lash Dozen Nazi Cities

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Possibly 5000 Allied planes smashed simultaneously into Germany and France from Britain and Italy today in one of the greatest co-ordinated blows ever struck at Hitler's transport system.

Up to 1000 Liberators and Flying Fortresses struck across the channel from British bases, pounding German rail centers of Karlsruhe, Mannheim, Ludwigshafen and Saarbrücken and aircraft plants in Metz and Strasbourg, France.

Simultaneously, other powerful formations swung over the Mediterranean, battering two rail yards at Marseille, the rail center of Nîmes, Rhone valley, and Avignon, 40 miles from the mouth of the Rhone. Enemy airdromes at Salon, 20 miles northwest of Marseille, and at Montpellier-Airagnes, 15 miles southwest of Nîmes, were pounded by the Italy-based light thrusts, Italy-based heavy bombers.

Britain-based bombers and escorts, which raised the total force striking from the west to approximately 2000 American planes, apparently encountered only slight fighter opposition, the Berlin radio claiming unfavorable weather hindered defense efforts.

Rounding out the powerful daylight thrusts, Italy-based heavy bombers raided the Yugoslav port of Razanik, 10 miles north of Zara, and RAF Mitchells made daylight sweeps over the continent from Britain in support of the poundings of Germany and France.

The Berlin radio said the Rhine-land cities of Karlsruhe and Mannheim had been hit with "substantial quantities" of explosives and incendiaries. It added that weather conditions had kept all but a few of Germany's fighter interceptors from making contact with the American bomber formations and their escorts.

A Paris broadcast not immediately confirmed said that Allied raiders also struck the former capital's northwestern and southwestern suburbs during the early afternoon. It added that casualties resulted.

Nazis Expect Reich Battle

LONDON, May 27 (INS)—The German people were warned indirectly today for the first time that the Reich itself is likely to become a battlefield soon after the landing of Allied troops in western Europe.

The warning, which took the form of an announcement of plans of evacuation of certain areas and the setting up of barred regions, coincided with an assertion by the DNB agency that its plans for coverage of the invasion were complete.

Jutland Chief Seized

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Copenhagen advices said that German raiders also struck the former capital's northwestern and southwestern suburbs during the early afternoon. It added that casualties resulted.

Invasion Weather

DOVER, Eng., May 27 (AP)—Light rain fell over the straits today, and a mist in the early hours made visibility poor.

A light westerly wind rippled the sea. The temperature at 9 a. m. was 56 degrees. The barometer rose during the night.

Allied Burma Gains Spur War in Pacific

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press War Editor

Allied troops have advanced a mile and a half toward the Japanese north Burma base of Myitkyna bringing the inevitable defeat of the outnumbered Japanese ever nearer, southeast Asia headquarters announces. The Chinese have scored additional victories over Japanese forces by capturing the north Burma town of Warang, 12 miles northeast of Kamaing, and seized a supply dump in the Mo-gang valley. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese.

Meanwhile southwest of Imphal in India, a Japanese battalion was reported to have been "practically annihilated and the commander killed." In direct support of the ground troops, Royal Air Force and Indian Air Force fighters and dive-bombers registered two direct hits on the Manipal river bridge, again cutting off communications serving the 33rd Japanese division at the edge of the Imphal plain.

Planes from the Chinese-American wing of the 14th Army Air Force strafed enemy troops in the vicinity of Loyal, the ancient Chinese city whose people fall to the Japanese has been conceded, a communique from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced.

Army, Navy and Marine fliers in the Central and North Pacific again have bombed Japanese bases in the Kurile, Caroline and Marshall Islands.

Slain Grandma Found in Lake

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Durham Police Chief H. E. King announced today a woman's body had been found weighted down in Eastwood lake, near Chapel Hill, where a search was being made for Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, wealthy Boonville, Mo., resident, reported missing since May 10.

King said the body was found by a diver who reported it was held down by heavy blocks. It was left under the water pending arrival of the coroner.

Meantime, Mrs. Jewett's 24-year-old grandson, Edward Jewett Martin, remained in the Durham jail. A grand jury indicted him on a murder charge Thursday in connection with the disappearance of his 67-year-old grandmother.

Martin, a Charlotte chemist, was arrested last Saturday after a garage employee reported to police that a car he had stored gave an offensive odor.

Police said he told conflicting stories in explaining the odor. After an attorney, Victor S. Bryant, was retained for him he made no further statements.

Durham officers said they learned Martin had driven Mrs. Jewett from Charlotte to her former home at Boonville to look over her property.

Their information was that the two checked into a Booneville hotel May 8 and that Mrs. Jewett was not seen again after May 10. A search of Martin's quarters and the automobile, King reported, resulted in the finding of blood-stained clothing.

Detective W. E. Gates said an unsigned will by Mrs. Jewett leaving Martin a large share of her estate was found in his possession. Martin was quoted as estimating his grandmother's wealth at $500,000.

Medium Holds War Plant Job

BY PAULINE WARREN

In Newton there lives a "medium" who is somewhat different from others of her ilk. She's rather remarkable. In her fifties, frail, weighing under 90 pounds and lame, she works a 6-day shift in a war plant. In addition, she does all her own housework and collects several dollars each night contacting the spirit world for her innumerable clients.

When Helen Farlow and another reporter were assigned to help me check on her psychic prowess, we all three hoped she might be our "Holy Grail"—the one fortune teller able to prove her claims.

Unfortunately this gallant little seer is no better than her sisters, her power to fathom the future (or even the past) is as nil as that of the corner lamp post.

Yet she does not hesitate to hand out advice and predictions about all sorts of things, including love, automobile accidents and wounds suffered in battle.

Her house, in an excellent neighborhood, is more modest than its neighbors. It's very small, ageing, and like any nondescript bungalow on a country road without modern plumbing. The interior is old-fashioned and the furniture, although immaculately dusted, has the drawn look of that found on some isolated farm.

On a small wicker table in the living room where she made us sit for the readings there was only one object—a small Bible. Like others in her field this particular medium brought an alarm clock into the room to time her seances into hour and half-hour readings.

The first thing she mentioned was that all the things she was

High Russian Church Head Slain in Wilno

BERN, Switzerland, May 27 (AP)—The International Christian press information service at Geneva reported today Metropolitan Sergius, orthodox archbishop of Wilno, had been murdered early this month. No details were given.

The archbishop of Wilno also bore the title exarch of Estonia and Latvia, conferred upon him in 1939 by the Metropolitan of Moscow. Taking over church administration in the Baltic states incorporated into the Soviet union in 1940, the archbishop of Wilno won the sympathy of the population, the news agency said, and stayed at his post when German armies overran those areas.

Police Find Girl Poison Victim

A pretty Auburn-haired girl who refused to give her name was found wandering dazedly in City sq., Charlestown, today, after drinking what City Hospital physicians believed was poison.

Patrolman George Kenney saw the girl staggering near the City sq. police station. He took her inside but she would not answer questions.

In her handbag was a card bearing the name "Margaret," but nothing else.

Mercury at 89 Jams Beaches

Sultry temperatures, accompanied by high humidity, kept Boston sweltering today with an official high of 89 degrees at 3:30. Thousands sought relief at beaches. Victory gardeners cocked an anxious eye skyward in search of some sign of rain to relieve their drooping crops.

Weatherman G. Harold Noyes said brief thundershowers during the early evening would bring some relief but that there would be continued warm weather to-morrow. The humidity, which reached a high of 74 per cent at 9 a. m., will be less tomorrow, Noyes said.

The scorching temperature and humidity drew the city's largest crowd to Revere Beach and an estimated throng of 75,000 packed the beach early in the afternoon. Several thousand more filled Winthrop beaches, and those at Dorchester and South Boston also were thronged by early afternoon.

High Police Officials Hold Secret Parley in Hub Hotel

A mystery conference of high-ranking police officials, which was expected to break wide open a case on which authorities have been working secretly for some time, was held last night in a room in a downtown Boston hotel, the Boston Evening American learned today.

Officials reported at the conference were Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan, Deputy Supt. Edward W. Fallon and Capt. Louis Di Sessa of the Charlestown Division.

Questioned by a reporter, over the hotel phone, Fallon passed off the meeting as "of no special significance," and added that no statement would be issued about the matters discussed or the decisions reached.

Later, when an attempt was made to get the conference room back by telephone, hotel officials insisted there was no one there and denied that any police officials had been registered.

Questioned this forenoon about the secret session, Capt. Di Sessa flatly asserted he had not attended any meeting and added he had not registered at any hotel. He suggested that perhaps someone might have used his name,

'Friend in Need' Haled to Court

The old saw has it that "a friend in need is a friend indeed" but Cambridge police have different ideas about a "go-through guy" or a Good Samaritan.

Patrolman Patrick J. Murphy, according to his version, was taking Roger M. O'Neil, 22, Woods rd., West Medford, into today today on a drunken driving charge after O'Neil's car collided with Murphy's car.

While this routine procedure was under way, Murphy said, Albert L. Rose, 23, of Farragut ave., Somerville, came along in another car and stopped. Rose tried to convince Murphy that O'Neil should be freed.

Murphy listened for a while, he said, and then added Rose to his "catch" on a drunken driving charge.

The new-found friends were arraigned before Judge Arthur P. Stone in East Cambridge court, where O'Neil pleaded guilty and his case was continued to June 1. Rose pleaded not guilty and was held in bonds of $500 for hearing June 1.

Sidney K. Cartwright, Field Service manager of the War Shipping Administration in the Port of New York, revealed that federal agents had been called when he testified before a House Merchant Marine subcommittee at the Federal building here.

Proof of the FBI's speedy action came after a noon meeting of WSA field inspectors to draft telegrams to President Roosevelt and congressmen protesting the discharge of 236 WSA supervisors. One of their colleagues, John S. Kirk, was missing.

LIFE THREATENED

He testified the day before that his life was threatened in a Brooklyn yard after he refused bribes "to get off the management's chest" and bury a report on payroll padding.

Fearing violence, the inspector asked police to help locate him. Kirk was found in his home in Brooklyn.

"The FBI told me to sit tight here," Kirk said. "I'm expecting a call from them any minute."

Cartwright recalled the picture that greeted one of his WSA inspectors when he boarded a transport undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn Dock of the Cardinal Engineering Co. between March 15 and 21:

WORKMEN ASLEEP

"My assistant found between 400 and 500 men working aboard this vessel daily," Cartwright declared. "His report showed that half of this number was needed. There was loafing, idleness and horseplay. My assistant found 20 men on the main deck playing with a mongrel dog—throwing sticks for it to retrieve."

"We got no cooperation from the management. My assistant talked with Joseph Cardinal. He blew up and told my assistant not to bother him."

Ship officers found workmen sleeping in bunks at the Cardinal plant, Cartwright continued, and when asked to get up, they appeared offended.

Story Reveals Fate Of 'Lost Rangers'

The following dispatch from Clark Lee discloses the fate of two "lost battalions" of American Rangers. The action took place within a week after the Anzio landing on Jan. 22. Censorship heretofore held back full details of the fate of these Rangers.

LONDON, May 27 (INS)—The fate of two "lost battalions" of American Rangers who died or were captured in Cisterna in January can be revealed today.

41,000 Jobless In U. S. Strikes

By the Associated Press
Labor disputes, new and old, kept an estimated 41,000 workers away from their jobs today and there was no indication settlement was imminent.

The chief troubles centered in the Pacific northwest lumber industry and in Detroit's war industrial area. There were more than 100 lines of lumbering operations in Washington and Oregon, affected by the disputes, with from 25,000 to 30,000 idle.

Labor disputes in Detroit and Michigan kept more than 7000 idle, including striking bread truck drivers who voted to continue their walkout.

The strike of 1,900 employees at two plants of Parke, Davis & Co. was in its fifth day, while at Saginaw, Mich., 2,500 workers in General Motors' Chevrolet transmission division remained idle following a dispute over smoking regulations.

More than 1,900 workers at the Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing Co. in Providence, R. I., went on strike yesterday over the hiring of a woman to fill a job from which a man was transferred. The company is engaged in war work.

Captured Nazi troops said they never had a tougher fight than was given them by these Rangers.

The two battalions, commanded by Col. Sam Darby, some of them veterans of Dieppe, had spearheaded landings at Sicily, Salerno and Anzio.

A week after the Anzio beachhead was established, they were assigned to infiltrate to Cisterna, to be joined by two infantry regiments attacking frontally.

Just after the Rangers established themselves secretly at the edge of Cisterna, the Germans moved a regiment of veteran paratroopers into positions facing the two infantry regiments.

When the infantry attacked at dawn, they found previously empty houses sheltering strong German machine gun nests. Tanks, self-propelled 88-mm. guns and emplaced machine guns halted the infantry attack after a half-mile had been gained.

The Ranger battalions fell upon the parachutists from the rear, but the German command rushed reinforcements which surrounded Cisterna and the Ranger units.

Word of their plight was brought back from Col. Darby's headquarters. Several of his officers had been killed by a direct hit on this building.

The infantry attacked again, but could not break through.

The Rangers fought until they exhausted their food, water and ammunition. Out of 1000 Rangers, the Germans claimed 699 prisoners.

Primary Tests New Deal in N. C.

By Associated Press
Two political veterans battled today for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in North Carolina in a primary contest that promised to assay the depth of that state's New Deal sentiment.

Clyde R. Hoey, 67, former governor and sometime administration critic, is matched against Rep. Cameron Morrison, 75, a former governor and senator who was a staunch Administration supporter while in Congress. With five candidates entered, only one other, Marvin L. Ritch, Charlotte lawyer, has made an active campaign.

Utah's 10-vote delegation to the Democratic national nominating convention may be uninstructed but it will favor a fourth term for President Roosevelt, party leaders said today at opening of the State convention.

Sen. Thomas of Utah, who seeks re-election, expressed belief in a keynote address that Gov. Dewey of New York would be the Republican nominee.

Namesake Took Soldier's Girl--And Also His Cookies

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 27 (INS)—Pvt. Bill Purdy of Ithaca, N. Y., today had been jilted by his Buffalo, N. Y., sweetheart in favor of Bill Purdy.

When Purdy (No. 1) was taking his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C., the Buffalo girl regularly sent him cookies and lots of letters. But Purdy was transferred and another Bill Purdy moved into Camp Croft and began receiving the tokens of affection.

Purdy (No. 2) wrote the girl to report the mistake; a friendship blossomed, and lo—when Purdy (No. 1) now stationed at Camp Reynolds, in Greenville, went home on furlough he found that the two had been married.

"I don't mind so much that he took my girl, but what about the cookies?" was Bill's philosophical comment.

Triangle Killing Defense All In

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Robert I. Miller's defense in the "love triangle" slaying of Dr. John E. Lind was completed today with emphasis on a self-defense contention.

Dr. Lind was shot dead in his automobile in a downtown street last February, just after Miller's wife had entered the car. Miller contended he fired after Lind threatened him and made a gesture as though to draw a pistol.

Dr. Harry Crawford, third defense psychiatrist, told the jury Miller did not set out to find his wife "with the purpose to kill." His actions from then until the shooting, Dr. Crawford said, were "automatic and on the vegetative level," with Miller incapable of premeditation.

Surgeon Predicts Malaria Outbreak, Urges Control

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Malaria experts estimate that over a million troops will return to this country as malaria carriers, says Surgeon-General Thomas Parran, of the U. S. Public Health Service, and strict protective measures will be required to prevent outbreaks.

"The disease is stubborn," he told the House appropriations committee in hearings made public today. "Relapses occur in about 50 per cent of the cases. Up to the present, our best drugs will not cure all cases. They merely suppress the infection. Hence the problem of returning troops is one we must face."

In order to meet the situation,

And the slim young woman, near exhaustion with nervous fatigue, vows she will stay there, too, until her frisky spotted fox terrier Tony, which scampered off a week ago today, returns.

For Tony has been the almost inseparable companion of her 75-year-old father, now seriously ill. The father's physician says that news of the dog's disappearance may easily prove a fatal shock.

DOG MAKES SEARCH

Worst of all, Tony, worried and bewildered in a big strange city, has been seeking his mistress as assiduously as she searches for him—he has been seen during the week at half a dozen other parking lots, sniffing forlornly at cars in a stubborn effort to find the one he knows is his.

"That dog knows he was lost from a parking lot," said Mrs. Vachal today, her eyes red-rimmed from loss of sleep, "and I'm going to stay here until he's found."

The father, Edward L. Salisbury, retired shipping firm official, lives in Natick, Ct., with Mrs. Vachal's sister, Mrs. Vachal telephoned Wednesday to say she and Tony were staying away a little longer than they had planned—she did not dare give the reason.

ALMOST CAUGHT

Tony was almost caught by a boy who recognized him at a Newark parking lot.

As radio police and SPCA agents joined the hunt, Mrs. Vachal went to the home of Mrs. Millian Pfeil, of the Newark SPCA to rest. She slept only a few hours. At 3 a. m. she was up and, with Mrs. Pfeil, resumed her search.

Mrs. Vachal, is the wife of John Vachal of Aruba, in the Dutch Antilles off Venezuela. She flew here last January to be with her dying mother.

Mrs. Salisbury died in Roselle, N. J., and at the funeral Mr. Salisbury suffered a heart attack that left him partially paralyzed and unable to speak.

TONY FROM ARUBA

Mrs. Vachal decided that Tony, an irrepressible pup with a winning way about him, was just what her father needed. She cabled her husband in Aruba and Tony arrived soon afterward.

The dog succeeded where medicine failed. Despite his paralyzed vocal chords, Mr. Salisbury soon was able to call the dog by name, and the two became inseparable, the dog sleeping every night at the foot of his new master's bed.

'Wrong Man' Freed in Holdup

In an abrupt about-face, Watertown police today asked for and obtained a dismissal of the armed robbery charge they had placed yesterday against Daniel J. Mazzola, 31, of Watertown st., Newton, in connection with a $4500 holdup.

The police gave a "wrong man" explanation to Judge P. Sarsfield Cunniff of Waltham court, who freed Mazzola at once.

Mazzola, a Watertown arsenal worker, had been arrested and charged with the holdup, Thursday, of George A. Ross, 35, proprietor of a grill. Ross was robbed by an armed thug as he walked from the Union Market National Bank with $4500 he had drawn in order to cash pay checks for war workers patronizing his place.

Fort's 'Hitler Skunk' Rouses Nazis Fury

German fighter pilots were enraged when they saw a panting on the sides of the "Shifless Skunk," a Flying Fortress, it was attested happily today by Staff Sgt. George W. Agiasotellis, Jr., 23-year-old ball turret gunner, of Berkeley st., Watertown.

Agiasotellis is home on leave, with a record of 26 missions over Europe, including six over Berlin, and two Nazi planes to his credit.

"The 'Skunk' had a picture of a skunk on it—with Hitler's head where the skunk's should have been," the Watertown veteran related.

"It made those German fighter pilots so angry they would always pick us out when they attacked our formation," he said. "They would swarm at the 'Skunk' like hornets. But it was a German rocket gunner, on the ground, who nailed us hard."

"We were headed for Berlin with a bomb-load, my 19th mission, when a ground-fired rocket zoomed up and blew one engine out of the plane. We still knocked down eight German planes. And we unloaded on Berlin before we headed for home."

Another time, while Agiasotellis was in a formation bombing rocket gun emplacements in France, one engine of his Fortress was blown off and another caught fire. The intercommunication system went dead. Agiasotellis climbed up from the ball turret to see what was going on. All the crew but the pilot and another gunner had bailed out on the pilot's orders.

The trio stuck it out and brought

Woman, 81, Baby Safe in Woods

WOONSOCKET, R. I., May 27

Mrs. Luce St. Pierre and the child, Suzanne Biron, suffered no ill effects, members of the family said. When found, the child was sleeping in Mrs. St. Pierre's arms.

Mooney, Who Received First Wireless, Quits Dots, Dashes

Back in the 1890's, when the mighty John L. Sullivan was the toast of Boston night life and could be seen often draping his magnificent mustache over a stein of beer in the bar of Clark's Hotel, Charlie Mooney was a Western Union messenger boy.

Today, with his 70th birthday around the corner, Mooney retired as Western Union manager at the Boston American after 37 years in that post, 35 in the business and career rich in memories.

He and his wife, Annie, reside in Trull st., Somerville.

Mooney, in 1901, received the first commercial wireless message ever sent. He was in the telegraph company's Nantucket office. The message came from a ship near New York from Europe. Twenty-five miles was about the limit for wireless distance then. The ship's operator sent it to the Nantucket lightship, which relayed it to Siasconset, whence it went to the Nantucket office.

At Nantucket, also, he received

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH PACIFIC (delayed)—A wounded Marine was recently discovered by hospital corpsmen to be carrying a list of dates almost as long as a calendar in his helmet.

The injured man said he took the list wherever he went, as it bore the dates of birthdays and anniversaries of 70-odd relatives, and he couldn't keep them all in his head.

He wrote 15 congratulatory letters home during his first two weeks in the hospital.

the flash that Pres. McKinley had been shot.

Being a messenger boy in those days when John L. Sullivan was making fistic history and ruling the local night life was an exciting adventure, Mooney recollects.

"We had to walk in those days. The fee for carrying a message to Dover st. was 25 cents, and five cents extra if there was an answer.

"The first time I brought John L. an answer, a friend of his at the bar said, 'Give the boy a dollar, John'.

1. This Liberator Express pilot has just brought his ship in for the Air Service Command—the end of a round-trip run on the longest air-freight haul in the world ... from India, 14,000 miles away, to Patterson Field, outside Dayton, Ohio.

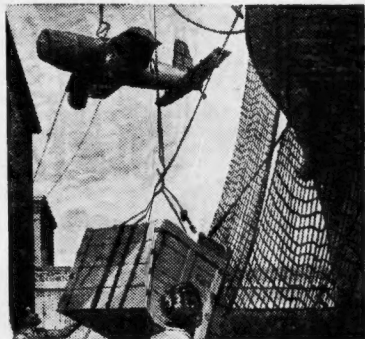

2. Day in, day out, the huge Liberator Express transport planes make the fight to the very fringe of Jap-held Burma and back. The boys who fly this shuttle run—in all kinds of weather—call it the 8-day "Pony Express,"—4 days out, 4 days back.

3. Each Liberator Express carries many tons of aircraft parts and supplies urgently needed by American airmen based halfway around the world ... magnetos, fuel pumps, jungle kits, propellers, starters, aircraft engines, radios, and other vital accessories.

4. The India run is only one of the ways in which we're solving the problem of supply the world over. The furious tempo of Allied aerial warfare calls for miracles of transportation, not only by air, but over highway, by rail, and on the sea.

5. Supplies, brought by truck and train, are lowered into the holds (waiting ships). Often, part of the cargo consists of fighter planes which have been flown from factory to dock/our transoceanic shipping is truly a bridge of supply victory.

6. As in war, the plane, the train, the truck, and the ship must also team up together to help rebuild the peacetime world. But the plane will also have another role to fulfill. A postwar Air Force can well become our most effective means of ensuring a lasting peace.

about to tell me came from the spirit world. She touched the Bible and impressed it upon me that it's all done by Divine Power—through the Grace of God and Jesus Christ.

She stressed that she does not go into deep trances. Closing her eyes very tight, she begged that I be patient as sometimes spirits are slower in their manifestation. Finally she said:

"I'll bring no voices to you. I'll just repeat to you what the spirits tell me. I seem to have a Harold here, or an Al, both in the spirit world, who want to get in touch with you."

When I denied knowing anyone dead by those names she nearly flooded me with the following:

"Someone in the spirit world is trying to get in touch with Pauline—do you know a Pauline? Can you give her a message?"

There was no possible way she could have found out my name is Pauline as, with my companions, I had walked in unannounced, on the spur of the moment. It can only be accounted for as sheer coincidence for the rest of her reading was grossly inaccurate.

MESSAGE FOR PAULINE

But knowing she had awakened my interest with the name of Pauline she kept giving me messages from the spirit world for this "friend" named Pauline.

"Pauline has been ill," she rambled (she was bound to hit right on this as nearly everyone has been ill at sometime or other) "and Pauline must be careful or she will be ill again. Pauline is also to beware of a glib young man who talks much too entertainingly. The spirits tell me there is something definitely wrong with this young man."

Then she opened her eyes and added: "He's not right for her at all. Not the man she should be in love with."

Then with a charming smile and a bird-like gesture of her delicate hands she added: "I just don't like him—there is something wrong with him. Be sure to tell Pauline. There is something he is hiding from her. He may even be married... tell her to be careful."

As I know no "glib young man" who talks much too entertainingly (wish I did!) I let this pass with the casual reflection that on a younger more impressionable girl this ugly doubt so carefully implanted might mean the death of a beautiful romance.

A STRANGE WAR

To change the subject I asked her when the war would be over. This was her answer:

"My forces will not allow me to mention the date. This is a strange war—one which should never have taken place. We should not feel hate towards the Nazis—they are misunderstood—there is no hate in the spirit world."

EDITOR'S NOTE: It may be significant that in all our reporters' talks with fortune tellers they were not able to find a staunch anti-Fascist among them. In all their conversations there are echoes reminiscent of a larger pattern. They seem sincere, but say the same things in different words. It sounds as if they had been thoroughly propagandized before the war with the sort of pap fed the pacifists by the Bund and other German-financed organizations. The warped theorizing seems to have stuck well in the befuddled minds of those living in a sort of half-world through their attempted tampering with the Infinite.)

When the medium "read" for Helen Farlow she assumed that Helen's husband was in the service since Helen was wearing an overseas service pin and a wedding ring.

She started right in with:

"I seem to get a vibration that someone has a head pain, dear. Just now there was a tremendous pressure as if someone were hurting me (hand to forehead) right there. That's the way it was given to me to tell you; I seem to place it as a head wound. It is someone you know in the war zone; I believe it's a husband's vibration. In the Pacific area, it is given to me to say. But now I see better news coming; news that will erase some of your worry about that condition."

AN INTERESTING TID-BIT

She also told Helen that she was in contact with her mother in the spirit world, surely a difficult feat since Helen's mother is very much alive.

It was a particularly interesting reading and it wasn't until it was over that the medium dropped an interesting tid-bit while just chatting.

"I've spent a great deal of money on my schooling for this work," she stated, "but I feel that I am being repaid." (At $1 a talk—she certainly is!) "I have more customers than I can handle. Only recently one of my customers had the automobile accident I've been predicting for him for years. He collected the amount of damages I had predicted, too—just $700 even."

This absorbing series will be resumed Monday in the Boston Evening American.

Enough 100-Octane Gasolene To Send 1,000 Bombers Over Germany Every 24 Hours! ... made each day by this mammoth new Cities Service Refinery. It's the world's finest fighting fuel, helping to speed Victory on every front!

CITIES SERVICE dedicates one of the world's largest 100-Octane and Butadiene Plants

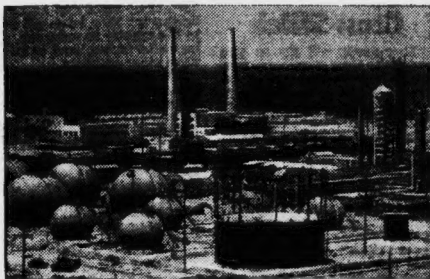

With this giant plant at Lake Charles, Louisiana, Cities Service, in cooperation with the Government, takes a tremendous stride toward meeting two most vital war needs.

WHERE the pine trees grew on the banks of the sleepy Calcasieu River a few months ago, stands today this mighty symbol of American brain and brawn. Sired by the necessity of war, the plant means more power to the armed forces, for it turns out great quantities of high-octane aviation gasolene and ingredients for synthetic rubber.

Created from the ground up, it includes the very latest, up-to-the-minute discoveries and inventions; and when peace comes, its efficiency will be devoted to higher standards of living everywhere.

Wholly dedicated to bringing the war to an earlier close, this great accomplishment is an outstanding example of what can be achieved by the winning team of Government and Industry ... working together, shoulder to shoulder, in the battle for Freedom and Peace.

10% of the Nation's Normal Rubber Demands...

At left is shown the new Government-owned Butadiene Plant, adjacent to the Cities Service Refinery at Lake Charles, Louisiana. Operated by Cities Service, it will produce Butadiene—an essential material in making synthetic rubber. This Butadiene will be fed directly into the nearby Government-owned rubber plant shown at the right above. Operated by Firestone, this new plant produces 60,000 tons of synthetic rubber a year.

✓ CHECK LIST OF OUTSTANDING FACTS...

1. One of world's largest 100-Octane and Butadiene plants.
2. Into its construction have gone 25,000,000 man-hours.
3. The Refinery alone covers 600 acres.
4. Powered by enough electricity to light a city of 250,000.
5. 275,000 gallons of water per minute are pumped into the refinery.
6. Produces enough 100-Octane Gasolene to send 1,000 bombers over Germany every 24 hours.
7. Will produce enough Butadiene to supply 10% of the nation's normal rubber demands.

FOX-HAFFENREFFER

Red letter events are following in swift succession in the Theodore C. Haffener household. Last week, Mrs. Haffener, one of three members of the administrative board of Wellesley College that has governed the college during the leave of absence of Capt. This afternoon, her daughter Marie is having a picturesque garden wedding for her marriage to Robert Stanton Fox of Columbus, O., member of the technical design staff of the Bethlehem shipbuilding division. Both ceremony and reception are in the lovely garden of the Haffener home in Brookline.

Marie is wearing white and so are her bridesmaids who carry arm bouquets of stock shaded from pale pink to lavender. BARBARA PAINE WEDS

Beauty Home Treatment for Hair

Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

"HOW SHALL I wear my hair?" This is the eternal feminine question. "Shall I wear an updo or the flat-top? Whichever way you decide . . . your hair should serve as a frame for your face . . . its arrangement contingent upon the shape of your head and face . . . and once you've discovered a becoming, easy-to-fix hairdo . . . it would be wise not to deviate.

Brush the hair up and away from a short neck . . . comb it soft and close around a long neck. A square-jawed face should have the top of the hair square to give balance . . . while oval faces should be made heart-shaped by wearing rolls or a chignon. If you are the ingenue type with a baby or round face . . . you are indeed fortunate . . . for they are the only gals who can wear any hairdo.

Unless you are very young . . . the new smooth-on-the-top coiffure . . . the current wave . . . is too difficult to wear. And, bangs, too, belong exclusively to the very young petite doll-like girl. For the over-thirty gals . . . upward swept lines in the coiffure will counteract naturally sagging lines of the face.

EXCELLENT HAIR GLOW TREATMENT

Of course, never try to hide defects, but soften and disguise them . . . and if you have several cowlicks in your hair . . . part accordingly . . . so that the hair will lie flat. And, if you have large ears . . . draw the hair halfway across them and add an ear bob. A spacious forehead should have the hair drawn away from it . . . as there is nothing more attractive than a clear brow.

We've learned from a dermatologist an excellent hair glow treatment which you can use at home as part of a corrective campaign against oily, stringy hair, and for premature grey hair.

Its base is a simple kitchen commodity which you can take off the shelf and work into a marvelous conditioner for your scalp and the alive-looking for your hair. Five or six such treatments will do wonders for an improved hair condition.

I'll be very happy to send you this hair glow home treatment, if you write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HEALTHY, SPARKLING HAIR is any gal's sure way to appeal . . . The hairdo doesn't count as much as the bare-face condition of the hair . . . despite its newness or smartness. Oily, stringy hair can be easily remedied with a simple home treatment . . . and after five or six applications . . . no head need look like the strands of a whisk-broom. Warner Star Faye Emerson wearing the current flat-top rare . . . pays as much attention to her head as to her face.

BREEZY, BRIGHT and double-duty for town and country . . . is this cotton gingham to keep you looking and feeling like a cool million. Soft collar . . . cuffed elbow-length sleeves . . . patch pockets buttoned with green-edged pearls . . . dramatize the frock. For accessory accents . . . Holiday Backyard Party Menu

By MARTHA LEE

BECAUSE DECORATION DAY falls in the middle of the week, no plans for the usual extended holiday week-end can be made. However, it is pleasant to spend at least part of the day outdoors, and this can be done even if you stay home. If the day is fine and warm, why not plan an informal meal to be served in your backyard. It need not be elaborate but it must be filling. A meat loaf is easy to prepare, easy to serve and satisfying, too. Creamed parsley potatoes are a good accompaniment. A fruit salad with dark rye bread, chewy ripe olives and crisp red radishes adequately supply the missing links in the menu. A fruit beverage—maybe apricot whole fruit nectar—is a typically delicious picnic beverage when served well chilled. And for dessert, what could bring more pleasure than ice cream? It sounds like a delightful party to us.

MEAT LOAF

2 lbs. chuck beef, ground
1/4 cup ground suet 1/2 tsp. salt
2 small peeled onions, minced
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tbsp. bottled horseradish
1 tsp. dry mustard
4 tbsp. minced green pepper
1/4 cup catchup 2 eggs
Mix all ingredients, and turn into a greased or oiled loaf pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 400 deg. F. for 1 hour. Makes 6 servings. One-half lb. sausage meat may be substituted for an equal amount of ground beef.

CREAM PARSLEY POTATOES

Prepare thin white sauce. Use cooked sliced or diced potatoes or potato balls. If potatoes are cold, reheat in the sauce. Add chopped pimiento and grated onion if desired. Before serving sprinkle with chopped parsley.

THIN WHITE SAUCE

3 tb. butter 1/4 tsp. pepper
2 tbp. flour 2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt
Melt butter over low heat; add flour, salt and pepper; stir until well blended. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in milk and return to heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Makes 2 cups.

FRUIT SALAD

1 small fresh pineapple, or 1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple
1 pint fresh strawberries
Segments from 3 large oranges
1/2 head chicory 1/2 head lettuce
Fruit French dressing

Slice, pare, core, and cut the pineapple in 1/2 inch thick pieces. Wash and hull the strawberries. Prepare orange segments. Arrange the fruit in a salad bowl with the chicory and lettuce, broken into pieces, and toss lightly together with about 1/2 cup of the fruit French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

FRUIT FRENCH DRESSING

1/2 cup salad or olive oil
3 tbp. pineapple or orange juice
1/2 tsp. salt Dash paprika
Speck white pepper
1/4 tsp. sugar

Combine all ingredients and beat with a hand or electric beater until smooth and well blended. Serve on any salad. Makes 1 cup.

There is a greater quantity of commercial ice cream available now than at this time last year—it's richer 'ice cream, too.

since the government has released more cream for its production. However, if you want to make your own, economically, try this recipe:

VANILLA ICE CREAM

(Automatic Refrigerator)
2 cups light cream
1 rennet tablet
1/2 cup sugar 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
Dissolve 1 rennet tablet by crushing in 1 tbsp. cold water. Mix light cream, sugar and vanilla. Warm slowly, stirring constantly. When comfortably warm (110 deg. F.) not hot, remove at once from heat. Add dissolved rennet tablet and stir quickly for a few seconds only. Pour at once into still liquid, into refrigerator tray. Do not move until firm—about 10 minutes, then cool in refrigerator about 1/2 hour. Place in freezing compartment. Freeze until firm. Remove from tray to a bowl, break up with a fork and beat with electric or rotary beater until free from hard lumps but still a thick mush. Finish freezing. Top each dish with a few nut meats before serving.

Cross-Stitch

Your needle will fly as you embroider these strawberry motifs in large 5-to-the-inch cross-stitch accented by small crosses. Large cross-stitch makes effective linens. Pattern 879 contains a transfer pattern of eight motifs 10x15 to 1 1/2x1 1/2 inches; stitches.

This pattern, together with a needlework pattern of useful and decorative motifs for linens and garments, fifteen cents. Send fifteen cents in coins for these patterns to Boston Evening American, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth ave., New York, 11, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address. My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Friday—Yesterday afternoon, I went to a meeting at the Russell Sage Foundation of the City of New York, an organization through which various denominations in the Protestant Church have joined together to consolidate their efforts for practical work in New York City.

They are trying to help with the problem of juvenile delinquency; they are attempting to do better work for the servicemen and their families. And they are co-ordinating their work in various fields. They are trying to make the church a power in the everyday lives of people, and that is the best way I know of to increase the interest of people in the church.

AT 6:30 I DINED with a new group called "The Youth of All Nations." This is a name which the children themselves voted to adopt.

They are children of many ages, many races and many religions, but they have all come to this country as refugees, perhaps after having lived in two or three other countries.

The organization has grown out of the desire of one 10-year-old girl to write down her experiences in order to help other children.

Now the members of the group are writing to people in the government, asking how they can be useful. They write letters to children in other countries, and make every newcomer to this country they can find more welcome.

I LEFT this dinner in time to reach the dinner given in honor of Mr. Walter White at 8:30. Mr. Wendell Willkie opened the speeches by a very delightful and informal address. He gave $5000 from the royalties of his book "One World" to the N.A.A.C.P.

Kelly Asserts His Shift Will Bring Party Harmony

Former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly explained today his "political surprise" in withdrawing as a candidate for the Democratic nomination as governor was actuated by a desire to promote harmony in the party.

Kelly will seek nomination for attorney-general. In stepping out of the gubernatorial contest he left the field to Mayor Tobin and State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley.

69 WITHDRAW

Kelly was one of 54 Democrats and 15 Republicans who withdrew nomination papers in various contests. He will have as opponents Joseph M. McDonough, medically discharged Navy officer; Francis D. Harrigan of Boston, and John H. Backus of New Bedford. Harrigan protested the Kelly papers as charged irregularities on signatures.

Three withdrawals in the congressional battle in the 11th District narrowed the Democratic field to five contestants, including Cong. James M. Curley.

The other four are Ex-Cong. Thomas H. Eliot of Cambridge; City Councilor Joseph Russo of the North End, former United States Marshal John J. Murphy of Somerville and Alexander J. Gregorowicz of Cambridge.

SENATE FIELD

The Democratic field in the U. S. Senate fight includes ex-Cong. Richard M. Russell of Cambridge; Mayor John Corcoran of the same city, former School Committee man Joseph Lee of Boston and ex-State Sen. Joseph Langone of the North End.

Lee withdrew as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer to make the Senate fight, in which Gov. Saltonstall is the unopposed Republican candidate.

Other withdrawals were those of Edward A. Ryan of Worcester as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate; John J. Concannon of Dorchester as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 12th district, and William F. McCarthy of Lowell as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor.

Uncle Sam's Coat Over Stalin's Blouse

A WEEK of observation and deliberation has convinced millions of Americans that one of the greatest exhibitions of camouflage ever to be executed by a political party in this country was the changing of the name of the Communist Party of the United States to the Communist Political Association.

This new "association" retains the word "Communist."

Which makes the "association" precisely what the "party" was—a Communist organization with roots in Moscow, just as the roots of the Nazi bundists are in Berlin.

Of the Communist Party, now garbed as the Communist Political Association, Attorney General Biddle in a decision in the Bridges case said:

"The Communist Party teaches the violent overthrow of existing governments, INCLUDING THE UNITED STATES."

Now, how can this objective be changed merely by changing the word "party" to "political association?"

The apparent hypocrisy of the new Browder Communist party is discovered (without much brain-fag) in the following from the "Association's" new "constitution:—"

1—"The Communist Political Association is a non-party organization of Americans."

Earl Browder, in his speech at the convention, added that the new organization would be "non-partisan."

How can a "political association" be "non-party" and "non-partisan" when its leaders have unannounced themselves over and over as being in favor of President Roosevelt's re-election, backed by the New Deal Reds, the latter of whom are composed of Communists and their alien-minded fellow-travelers?

In fact, the dissolution of the Communist Party was ordered for the same reason that Stalin ordered the dissolution of the Comintern.

That reason was to allow all the Communists of America and their affiliates to support the New Deal candidates, from President down, at the polls next November.

The order for a "revolution" in Communist tactics in the U. S. A. very likely came from the Kremlin.

2—"The preamble to the new Browder-spawned "constitution" says that it "upholds the U. S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

It "upholds" these documents for this one reason only: The Constitution and the Bill of Rights guarantee the right of the Reds to undermine those documents so long as open force is not used.

Then, suddenly, remembering its revolutionary mission, the preamble says:

"It (the new Association) adheres to the principles of scientific Socialism, Marxism."

Socialism, scientific or unscientific, and Marxism of any color are DIRECT ENEMIES of the traditional individualistic, free-enterprise system of the United States and its people.

You can't marry Marxism and Americanism.

3—"Calling itself "American," the "Association" says it is based on "the working classes."

No party or "association" can call itself "American" and base its activities on any special class.

The essence of Americanism is that ALL CLASSES are admitted to EQUALITY in our great country of OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL.

4—"Here is the crowning piece of hypocrisy in this "constitution" of the "Communist Political Association."

The constitution orders expulsion of any member for "adherence to or participation in the activities of any clique, group, circle, faction or party which conspires or acts to subvert, undermine, weaken or overthrow any or all institutions of American Democracy."

This is the same organization, made up of the same men and women, who while Stalin and Hitler were allies, from August, 1939, to June, 1941, impeded our defense efforts and sought in many ways to "undermine" the very foundations on which this country exists—its INDUSTRIAL POWER!

So the "Communist Political Association" still remains the Communist Party of the United States.

It has merely put on the coat of Uncle Sam over the blouse of Stalin.

And the New Dealers are at last where they belong—in the arms of Browder and Amter.

WASHINGTON, May 27—I am about to be saved from a fate worse than death.

And the gallant knight who is going to dash in on a white charger—or maybe, in his case, a landing barge—is none other than the new Secretary of the Navy, James V. Forrestal.

The other day I wrote a piece, saying I did not consider it good clean fun to be going around belting the pants off Congress. And a few days before that I described an afternoon spent with Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones.

Today I received the following letter from the Secretary of the Navy:

"My Dear Mr. Dixon: It was a good piece you had on Congress. My experience with them has been that, by and large, they are a good lot, and certainly, as you say, we put them there."

"Attacking their morals is certainly not the way to improve the intellectual or spiritual level of the people who make the laws."

"Having got off that profound thought, will you take lunch with me some day next week? I can't have you coming under the sinister influence of Jesse Jones entirely. Sincerely yours, James Forrestal."

I HAVE ACCEPTED the invitation, because I feel that Cabinet members should not be discouraged when they wish to buy meals for the citizenry. I only hope that Secretary Forrestal has saved his skin on this occasion so he will not have to dip into the rent money.

Having been around these parts, I hasten to add one thing: The fact that I am going to eat on the Forrestal cuff does not mean I will acquire any influence to have anybody's nephew made a lieutenant-commander, or even a boat's mate. I couldn't even get him an introduction to Comdr. Gene Tunney.

THE TERM of Senator John H. Overton, of Louisiana, expires this year and the Senator has not been able to make up his mind whether he will run again.

When he first revealed his thought of quitting, all the Southern Senators signed a petition begging him to stay. He thanked them kindly but said he had until July to file for the primaries—and would take his time about deciding.

Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, reported he had been particularly persuasive in urging Senator Overton to try again, and that Overton had told him:

"I have made up my mind about one thing. If I do run again, I will not tell my constituents that I am a korn-handed son of toil. I will not say that I have been a workman all my life and that the happiest hours I ever spent were on the farm."

"No more of that kind of campaign oratory for me. If I decide to run, I will tell them that I am a city slicker; that I hate farming. I will tell them I have never done a day's work in my life—and that is why I want to go back to the Senate!"

It must be that I am clairvoyant or have a sixth sense. But I get the distinct feeling that Senator Overton is not too anxious to go back to the Senate.

"Weapons of War," in Potomac Park. One of the features is the displaying of soldiers dressed in German and Jap uniforms.

All the uniforms are captured. The Jap uniforms are looted taken in Attu, and are fur-lined.

The pseudo-Germans were going around the other day "heuling" all over the place. Two women onlookers asked an officer if they were prisoners of war.

The officer looked mysterious and said he was not at liberty to tell that it was a military secret.

"Well," sniffed the other lady. "They look pretty dumb—even for Germans!"

MISS INEZ ROBB, the writer, has taken cognizance of reports that Franklin P. Adams, the information man, is being urged by the Democrats of Fairfield County, Ct., to run against Rep. Clare Boothe Luce this fall.

"That is absolutely ridiculous," snapped Miss Robb, who can out-boity toity any downer duchess that ever lived, when she feels like it. "Mr. Adams is not nearly pretty enough!"

MR. OLIVER B. Lerch has forwarded me a clipping from the Wall Street Journal, asking me to explain what the items contained therein have in common.

The items, which run together, are:

"The synthetic rubber program is now using up alcohol at the rate of 150,000,000 highballs a day . . . The WPB has allocated 240,000 pounds of copper for nose rings for bulls."

I do not know Mr. Lerch. But it certainly seems significant.

A WELL-KNOWN New Yorker has asked me to quote above on her birthday. I cannot deny the request as she has long been a loyal and enthusiastic reader of this department. But I will protect her against herself and not mention her name. She is too young to have her birthday connected with these lines. They are for the birthdays of people of 45 years of age or over.

SAW A RECIPE calling for using French toast for the layers of strawberry shortcake. I am a "very anything" fellow from way back. So I requested our domestic engineer to make some shortcake as per the aforementioned recipe. The result was a disappointment. The French toast was good; the strawberries were fine but the combination was terrible. Those domestic science writers certainly think up some screwy recipes . . . A Chicago man questions the claim that every male resolves as many as eight proposals of marriage from eager females during his lifetime. This man who is 47 years old says he has never received a proposal of marriage. He must be a hermit.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:

Q—What about the Gemini girls? A—The star gazers say Gemini females (May 21—June 20) usually have many romances before settling down permanently. The average is said to be about six romances. Gemini women are brilliant, witty and capable. However, they are inclined to be dominating, possessive and temperamental. It takes a patient man to handle one of these women. A Gemini woman can never make up her mind. If you see a female at a race track with tickets on six horses to win in an eight-horse race it is usually a Gemini gal. When it comes to deciding what they will have for dinner at a restaurant or picking French pastry the Gemini girls waiters wild. Many Geminis marry twice, but rarely have more than two children.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Walter Pidgeon and Cary Grant considered two of the best-dressed men on the screen, patronize department store tailors in Hollywood and Los Angeles . . . The English sport fans are getting wilder about dog racing. Recently 40,000 attended the dog races at Wembley Stadium . . . Why do the references to the owl as "A Wise Old Bird" continue? The owl is a very dumb bird. Perhaps the dumbest of our feathered friends . . . The measurements of Janis Ramsen of New Jersey, recent winner of a national "Beautiful Legs" Contest, are, "Ankles, eight and half inches, calf 12½ inches, thigh, 19½ inches." These measurements are exactly the same of Marlene Dietrich.

BRIEFLY: As to formal dinner parties, I do not care for them. A buffet supper is my favorite . . . So 130,000 more WACs are needed. If they would take in young women of 18, the difficulties of getting this number of WACs would greatly decrease. An 18-year-old girl is just as smart as a man of 24.

HOLLYWOOD, May 27—Ingrid Bergman is one of the few actresses who has all hits and all runs and no errors to her credit, so I am not surprised that Alfred Hitchcock has arranged with David Selznick to star her in "The House of Edward," which I am told has turned out to be a great Ingrid Bergman script.

Speaking of Ingrid, I received a letter from Private John Miller, who writes at length. He says of her: "Sometimes when you have space in your column, I wish you would give Ingrid Bergman a plug for the boys in Alaska. She could be the most aloof and important actress in Hollywood. Instead she came to us as one of the gang—dancing with all of us. She was like someone out of this world and most of us came nearer to peace and heaven when we were with her than we ever will until we leave Army life."

WILLIAM PERLBERG, who hasn't produced a movie since "Song of Bernadette," took time out to tell me the idea of his next, "Where Do We Go From Here?" Said Bill: "It's about a guy who drinks a love potion with Lucretia Borgia, sails the seas with Christopher Columbus, fights with George Washington and ends up a 4-P in this war." It isn't supposed to make sense, so don't let it bother you. Vivian Blaine and June Haver have the feminine leads, with Gregory Ratoff directing the technician production.

BOB HOPE falls heir to a role that would be the wolf's dream—only Bob "ain't" a wolf. He gets the only male part with 5000 assorted defense workers in "Girls Town." I don't know whether Bob's to be congratulated or assigned a bodyguard. This is the first picture scheduled for him when he returns to Paramount, the old homestead, after finishing "The Princess and the Pirate" for Goldwyn.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The only girl Georgie Jessel has been seen with the last two weeks has been Lois Andrews, his former wife. All of Georgie's friends believe a reconciliation is very near. They are both so crazy about little Jerrylyn, 18 months old, that it seems only natural they will reconcile. Georgie has had the girl for the past few months and Lois has been at the house constantly.

BARBARA HUTTON GRANT, who told me only a few weeks ago she never wanted her son Lance to be the subject of court squabbles because she felt it was so bad for any child, is naturally upset over the suit filed against her by Count Haugwitz-Reventlow. Barbara is devoted to the little blond nine-year-old boy and so is Cary Grant, whom he calls "General."

The little boy is such a happy youngster. I have never even heard Barbara use slang, much less profanity. When I talked with Cary today, he was concerned about her health.

"She is just out of the hospital," he said, "and I want to do everything I can to make things easier for her, for she will be very unhappy over this whole thing."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Bill Lythe, who so narrowly escaped death when thrown through the windshield of his car, is having X-rays taken of his injured face; the Mauch Twins (remember them?) now in the Army and in "Winged Victory," are being given a dinner by Jane Withers; Walter Winchell will soon be headed our way and will do his broadcasts from Hollywood; James Anderson Shergold, radio head, is already here to make the necessary arrangements; Alfred E. Barre Lyndon, who adapted "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse" and "The Lodge" for the screen; married Grace Traveller on Wednesday; Gracie Allen has an assignment to cover the Republican and Democratic conventions. The Jack Bennys, dining with her and George Burns, were giving her ideas on the subject.

Star Shine By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, May 27—I had just finished reading the play "Oklahoma," and was admiring the writing and lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein, II, when I recalled that it was only a few months before "Oklahoma" opened on Broadway that Hammerstein couldn't get a job in Hollywood.

Hammerstein had had a number of flops, both plays and pictures, but it was Hollywood that said Hammerstein was through. I also remember a discussion I had with a certain producer about Hammerstein. He said that Hammerstein was old-fashioned, corny, and that he was no longer the man who had written the book and lyrics for "Showboat." In fact, this producer went so far as to say that he was going to suggest to Jerome Kern that he team up with a more modern book and lyric writer.

Hammerstein packed up and went to Broadway to make good and to show Hollywood.

AND HOW he made good: "Oklahoma" the best musical since "Show Boat," and "Carmen Jones," a distinctive contribution to the theater. He can get a job at any studio and name his terms. He is now doing the book and lyrics for William Pearlberg's production of "State Fair."

But the pay-off I want to reveal is simply this: That last Christmas this producer, who declared that Hammerstein was through, gave me for a present an album of the records of "Oklahoma," saying:

"I'm certain you'll enjoy this. It's the best musical since 'Show Boat.'"

Hammerstein isn't fooled by Hollywood's new attitude either. He knows what they thought of him and said about him. Recently, in an issue of Variety, he had an advertisement in which he listed his flop plays and pictures, and beneath them had this line:

"I did it before and I can do it again."

MEDICAL ETHICS and the "tradition" that any advance in medicine or surgery must be publicized first in the Medical Journal may keep out of print the reportedly startling advance in therapy having to do with thrombosis and embolisms at Carney Hospital. . . . But this column hears, on prime authority, that a South Boston surgeon, Dr. Charles A. Robinson, has pioneered successfully in more than 75 cases with an original treatment which aims at preventing blood clots from striking down patients who are on the way to recovery. . . . City editors may be able to get the full story, which, even if highly technical and apparently "dry" reading, would be of interest to many lucky persons who have recovered after pulmonary thrombosis, and to relatives of victims of the deadly thrombosis scourge.

ANOTHER NOTE of therapeutic interest is the increasing popularity of an operation which "ties off" the veins of persons suffering from phlebitis or varicose veins. . . . Blood clots develop from phlebitis and varicose veins. . . . A medical advance for which many readers are waiting is a treatment for neuritis due to changing climate and humidity. . . . Boston has more sufferers (to the square mile) than any other big city, excepting possibly Washington. . . . Some victims are made acutely melancholic when weather changes are imminent. . . . An amateur theory (held by this column) is that the water content of the body is involved. . . . But there seems to be less research toward "a cure for climate" than in any other field.

SUFFOLK DOWNS BETORS who backed down the filly Patches to 2-5 in the fifth race Friday should remember that fillies and mares in the spring are very flighty, and that their mood for racing changes from day to day. . . . But Patches, which ran third was going against a situation which old horse-players, without consulting the records, were certain had not been overcome in years of New England racing. . . . Had Patches won, it would have been the third straight victory for an odds-on choice at Suffolk Downs! . . . It certainly didn't seem to be in the cards.

A VERY PERSONABLE and goes all-air-conditioned beginning Monday. . . . The apparatus is a non-priority system. . . . John Spinelli, the contractor, is making such headway with Ralph Fox's Den that the remodeled, redecorated famous Chinese restaurant may be ready for customers again within two weeks. . . . Mary Curley, niece of the Congressman and daughter of John J. Curley, former city treasurer, would appreciate greatly the return of a silver cigarette case which she lost in the Village Barn a few nights ago. . . . The case was a memento bequeathed to little Mary by Jimmy O'Brien, who used to be her mother's chauffeur, and who died recently. . . . The finder of the handbag which held the case may keep the thirty-plus dollars and the bag. . . . But the cigarette case, Miss Curley pleads, is a cherished possession. . . . Will the finder please mail it to Mary Curley, 48 Oriole St., West Roxbury.

The Mystery of State's Leftover Race Profits

By AUSTEN LAKE

You wouldn't think it possible that our horse and dog track addicts who held winning stubs on their favorite animals would ignore their rightful profits. Yet 16 Massachusetts race saucers, of which at least six are no longer existent, hold a grand total of $263,096.50 in uncashed bets over a period of nine years, money which is orphaned in track vaults and accumulating interest.

Now the mystery in all this is three-fold (1) Why do the state legislators, usually very quick to pounce on loose dollars, refused to vote any disposition of the great share of it "no man's money" and hence property of the state?

Charlie Conover

2—Six or more tracks have ceased to function and in some cases their original owners have disappeared, still in possession of the unclaimed sums which total $74,400.70. In fact, if a holder of a long overdue race ticket should come to claim his winnings, in some cases the State Race Commission wouldn't know where to locate the track operator or his unclaimed fund. Not by law does the S. R. C. have the right to find out what the operator did with the cash or whether he has meanwhile spent it.

3—Why do a proportion of our betting clients fail to collect, considering that the winning stub is very dear and precious to a customer's heart?

Issue Being Ducked

There have been at least six bills presented to the Legislature to allow the state to take possession of this orphaned sum, the latest of which was filed by the special commission assigned to investigate race revenues last fall. Nothing was done about them and each bill was allowed to languish in the little graveyard where such legislation is allowed to expire. There was some debate on the stuffy legalisms of whether the fund was a "simple debt or a cop-trick" and a lot of gab about "moral rights"—meaning that some of the horse and dog plant owners have evaporated with some of the cash which the state will be put to much pains to recover, if at all. Ordinarily the Beacon Hill statesmen are very keen to grab any "moral" rights for their budgets that look like a stray buck of dough, but this time they are unaccountably bashful. Why? Nine years is a long time for an unclaimed quarter of a million to gather and get kicked around.

Now the curious aspect of all this is, why do holders of winning pasteboards delay or neglect to collect their profits? There was an instance where Suffolk Downs paid a nine-year-old claim within the last few months. An Army sergeant presented eight colored coupons on a horse that won away back in 1935—and he got his cash. And every so often stragglers will mail in tickets that are faded and dog-eared with the years, and in some cases make affidavits of having lost the tickets and ask, please, to get paid just the same. So the track auditors check through their race files, possibly swearing softly to themselves, and determine whether the data tallies with their absentee stubs of that day and race. And if it does they pay off, often considerable sums. For it is nice for the confidence of our gambling public to know that every race ticket sold is tabulated, so that the mutual auditors know the exact number punched out at the windows, the exact number cashed and any left over.

Claims Are Paid

Thus if Mr. Joe Mokus finds, at the exhilarating moment when he fished for his stubs that they've vanished, he can go to the nearest notary and file an affidavit, that Mr. Mokus the Gingerale agent bet on a nag named Gollywoglet in the seventh race of May 16, amounting to $39.70. The track auditor thumbs through his ledgers and finds that there were one, two or maybe three tickets uncashed in that particular race. Then he investigates Mr. Mokus' reputation for honest dealing with him or more of the many means at the track's disposal. And if the facts jibe, he sends a check. And it is rather illuminating on the mutual honesty of tracks and claimants that not a single affidavit presented to the State Race Commission for delayed payment has been found fraudulent. All have been paid.

Strangely the annual sums of unclaimed winnings are much the same at each track since pari-mutuel betting became law in 1935. They don't seem to fluctuate. Yet no horse or dog operator has any notion of why this phenomenon exists. Perhaps accidental loss, oversight, mistaken destruction, sudden illness, a hurry call from office or home or 100 other reasons. For example an elderly gent with the heart flutters buys a horse check, perches in the stands and, as his money-animal churns up the backstretch, feels his pulse skip. He swoons and is trundled off to the little emergency ward which is set up for just such emergencies.

Time passes. The elderly gent recovers, thankful to be snatched from the jaws of death. Then one day he fiddles through an old vest. Hello, here are a couple of horse stubs. Wonder if that goat won? Such things as that.

Jockey McCreary Rides High With Trainer Jones

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—The wolves who howl when their favorite bitter strikes out in the pinch at a ball game or blows a decision in the prize ring are the same ones who could demand that a jockey be torn limb from limb when he fails to get home in front in a horse race.

Their number is legion and the breed increases with the new accent on sports. Especially on racing, where a man has his deuce going and sees it lost by a nose.

Yet, the jockey who comes from farthest behind and who wins more close ones than all the rest is sitting most solid with his stable, which happens to be the leading stable in the country at the moment.

CONNY THE LAD

This is the Calumet outfit which probably will win a half-million or more in purses this year and crack its own record. The jockey is Conn McCreary.

"Sure, he blows some close ones," said Trainer Ben Jones today in his box at Belmont. But show me a jockey who doesn't lose, and as far as we are concerned, McCreary is just about everything that a jockey should be.

"We didn't take a two-year contract on him last spring because we liked the way he parted his hair," said the Missouri dirt farmer who currently is regarded as the outstanding trainer in the land.

"There has never been a finger pointed at McCreary in all his career as a rider. His integrity is beyond question. Also horses run for him and he is a fine all-around jockey."

Jones tugged at that white hat of his and talked at length of the jockeys and the horses he has known but intermingled in the discourse seemed to be the firm belief that McCreary was the kind of rider Calumet wants and aims to keep.

"All this criticism about his coming from behind makes little sense," said the trainer. "If we have a horse that wants to go to the front he rides that way."

Jones admitted that McCreary might make mistakes, but so do all the rest of the riders, he said.

TAKING ADVANTAGE

"And I'll tell you this," he added, "any time we have a horse that McCreary can't ride the horse will stay in the barn."

McCreary has ridden for a number of stables. But his first association with a multi-dollar outfit is this one with Calumet and he is making the most of it.

He has convinced Jones, a horseman from way back that he knows horses and knows how to ride them. He has a way with mounts that gets the best out of them where others fail and while he sometimes causes epidemics of heart failure with his from-behind finishes, he wins and that is about all his stable or the bettors can ask of him or any other rider.

McCreary rode Pensive to victories in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness and will probably come busting down there in front on him in the Belmont Stakes June 3 to complete the sweep of the triple crown.

NO. 1 JOCKEY AT CALUMET

At one time or another he has ridden all the rest of the best Calumet horses. He is their number one guy. And if the wolves in the stands have any hollering to do they might as well lift their voices to the moon and not bay in the direction of Jones who has dealt with the good ones and the bad ones, the honest ones and the thieves through the years.

Jones explained that McCreary's reputation through the years was the motivating influence in his being signed as the Calumet stable's first string rider.

Jubilant Judge Is the Fastest

Running like a champion in the stretch, Jubilant Judge, racing greyhound from the kennels of Mrs. M. A. Haugh, flashed across the wire to turn in the fastest time of the current schooling events, covering the futurity course in 28.4 flat at Wonderland, Revere last night.

Winning his race the hard way, Jubilant Judge had to come from behind to catch pace-setting Captain Panther, along with steady running Lucky Ron. The Panther, who flew to the front at the start of the race, held the lead right up to the stretch but couldn't match the flying stretch bid of determined Jubilant Judge.

Proving their mettle by winning two straight schooling races over the futurity distance, these three speedsters, Dot's Judy, Watway and Happy Rubie, should bear close watching when Wonderland reopens its doors Monday night, June 5.

Derringer In Stride

By the Associated Press

Banjo-strumming "Cholly" Grimm can't take any miracle man bows yet, but he has those Chicago Cubs knocking today on the exit door from the National League cellar.

Since the man who made Milwaukee pennant conscious returned to the big show three weeks ago, the Bruins have been keeping their nose above water, winning nine of 17 and boasting a fancy six-game victory string.

Improvement was the only thing possible for the bewildered Cubs who had lost 10 straight after opening day when Grimm succeeded Jimmy Wilson as boss man. After showing the new skipper how they lost them with three more setbacks, they managed a win, fell back into their old habits for three more beatings before they started to climb.

SETTING FAST PACE

An eight out of 10 pace since the second game of a May 14 double-header left them today only a game and a half behind Brooklyn with a chance to quit the cellar over the week-end. They're still last but the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds are beginning to cast anxious glances at those soaring Chicago hit totals.

Paul Derringer's rejuvenation continued with the Cubs' success as he traveled the route for the third time in six starts to stop the Phils 9-1.

St. Louis came from behind to down Brooklyn, 5-3, in the delayed opening of their eastern invasion. Max Lanier, bidding for his seventh victory, faded for a pinch hitter and reliever Al Jurisch got the win when the Dodgers' defense fell apart.

Woody Williams' single scoring pinch runner Dain Clay from second helped Cincinnati to a 4-3 nod in 10 night innings over New York. Buddy Walters yielded homers to Mel Ott and Danny Gaddella in hanging up his seventh triumph.

COLMAN HITS HOMER

Pinch Hitter Frank Colman's home run with two on in the eighth enabled Pittsburgh to trounce Boston, 7-5.

The New York Yankees opened their tour on Ernie Bonham's neat six-hit shutout job against Chicago, 4-0, under the arcs before 25,766, picking up a full game on St. Louis, which bowed to Boston, 4-2, in an 11-inning "owl" game. Nelson Potter retired the final 23 Red Sox to face him, but finally lost.

Scholastic Golf Is Put Over for Year

As it had to follow, the 11th annual State Interscholastic Golf Team championship has been postponed this year, according to an announcement from Jack Burke, director of the tourney and faculty manager of Peabody High School.

This decision was reached by the committee following a check-up of schools formerly participating in golf . . . the North Shore, Southeastern conference and Bay State League had been abandoned earlier this season because of the lack of transportation and the shortage of golf balls . . . however, Director Burke hopes to pick up next year . . . meanwhile, North Quincy will retain the trophy of the Peabody Rotary Club for another season.

Previous winners have been Worcester Commerce (2); Dartmouth (2); Peabody, Wor. North, Newton, Arlington and Belmont . . . to gain permanent possession of the trophy, a team must win the championship three times.

St. Mary's High of Waltham will be facing an opportunity of moving back into first place in the Southern Division of the Catholic league tomorrow afternoon at the expense of St. Columbkille's

Gibson Says Suffolk Could Handle 2 Million

By JACK CONWAY

BOSTON WILL set new sports records beginning today and running through the Memorial Day holiday . . . Suffolk Downs and the Braves will be the chief local beneficiaries of the boom . . . The East Boston track should handle $1,300,000 today, $850,000 on Monday and $1,500,000 on Memorial Day.

"We have the facilities for a $2,000,000 day at Suffolk Downs if the bettors would not wait so long to make their choices," said Earl Gibson, boss of the mutual department . . . "There has been a decided pickup in $5, $10 and $50 betting and this moves the handle forward very rapidly."

Earl Gibson

Our three day handle estimate of $2,650,000 is a conservative one . . . If the holiday crowds start to pour in this early, the final total for the three days could be around $3,000,000 . . . Belmont will handle over $3,000,000 today and may reach the dream day of $4,000,000 on Tuesday.

The Braves will have the Cubs as opponents today, while they will take on Chicago in a twin bill tomorrow . . . In view of the fact the Cubs defeated the Braves three in a row in their Chicago series, there should be a fair attendance today, while the Sunday crowd will be around 25,000 . . . The Cardinals will be here for the holiday doubleheader . . . If the Braves make a credible showing against the Cubs, the Memorial Day games will set a new high in attendance for National League Park for 1944.

Paige Had Reserve

DAVE WILSON called the turn on Paige as the horses raced for the far turn in The Scollay Square $2500 race, at Suffolk Downs . . . Patches had been installed a 2 to 5 favorite . . . Patches got off well, but couldn't shake off Paige who came with a terrible rush on the turn to move into the lead after hitting the head of the stretch . . . Paige, second choice in betting, paid $10.60, $3.80, $3.00 across the board . . . Proving once more that it is silly to bet on 2 to 5 shots . . . It is better to watch the race unless you happen to like the second or third choice.

The bridge jumpers, who like to bet big chunks of money on so-called sure things, had a panic of their own when North Fire passed Patches near the wire . . . Patches was lucky to finish third and save the money of the bridge jumpers . . . North Fire paid $35.90 in the middle and $7.40 to show.

There was $42,842 burned up on Patches in the win pool and $17,145 in the place pool and a total of $49,987.

There was a hot tip on Jelwell in the eighth race, but the noble thoroughbred finished up the track.

The form players had their chance to score when Ann M. Foray Array and Spheric won . . . Just when the form players were getting ready to take over the track, Paige came along to prove that Patches was just another horse.

Governor's Handicap

THE GOVERNOR'S Handicap will feature today's card at Suffolk Downs . . . There will be a $5000 added purse and a class field will compete over the one mile distance . . . Pascoag will also do well today, Monday and on the holiday . . . The Rhode Island half-mile track is one of the most successful layouts of its kind in the country.

The Massachusetts betting total will be swelled by the dog track at Raynham . . . Russ Murray's track is having the best season in its history . . . Murray's all-out aid to veterans, both in the matter of jobs and in contributions to the Disabled Veterans' Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser, have gained him a great deal of good-will . . . As a disabled veteran of World War I, Murray is able to appreciate the problems of the veterans of this war better than most other promoters.

Sunday Advertiser set new attendance and mutual records between tonight and its final race on Memorial Day evening.

Weight Lifters to Stage A.A.U. Events

CHATTANOOGA, May 27 (AP)—Attracting some of the nation's mightiest muscle weight-lifting championships will be settled here today in the first such tournament ever staged in the South.

Headed by five former titholders, more than 20 bar bell experts, many of them in the armed services, are entered in the five classes of competition. Each man will perform in three different types of lifting during the one-day meet.

Rated among the best of the participants are several men from the York, Pa., Bar Bell Club. Three of them, Richard Bachtel of the 132-pound class, Tony Terlazzo in the 148-pound class and Johnny Terpak in the 165-pound class, won the titles in their divisions last year at Los Angeles.

Other former champions are Joe De Pietro of Paterson, N. J., in the 123-pound division, and Staff Sgt. Hyman Schaffer of Maxwell Field, Ala., who won the 132-pound title in 1942, but did not compete last year.

As a climax, judges will pick a "Mr. America" from the Adams chosen on the basis of muscular development, posture, posing and general appearance.

All Withdraws Suspensions

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—Amateur athletes suspended for competing against Bob Steuber, former professional football player in the Drake Relays last month, are restored to their amateur standing today by the Amateur Athletic Union.

Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., announced the reinstatement of the athletes, subject to final approval by the board of governors. Ferris took action after the Bureau of Navy Personnel promised to "take steps to prevent any possible recurrence of this incident."

Steuber was entered in the Drake Relays as a representative of the Iowa Naval Pre-Flight School.

Raynham Vet Fund Increases

Russ Murray's goal of a $20,000 gift to the American-Record-Fund for hospitalized war veterans in this area is a step nearer completion, thanks to the track "take" and the gift of the winning purse in last night's Veteran Special third race at Raynham Park which netted $22,247.

This amount, plus the total from the first race, held last week brings the figure raised by Russ Murray to $41,994.

Those fans who did the wagering to help swell the sum saw a great race in which Havana took the event in a three-way photo finish with a head separating the victor from Marvel Master, the favorite which ran second, and Game Gesture. The winner paid $14.40.

The crowd which numbered close to 10,000 remained on through and sent $231,908 into the machines for the second highest handle in the history of Raynham Park.

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Warren Wright's 3-year-old filly, Twilight Tear, ruled a 3-to-2 favorite in the overnight odds today to win her seventh straight race in the $10,000 Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park.

The Calumet Farm mare, stablemate of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, Friesian, lost her first start of the year during the winter season in Florida, but has gone unbeaten since.
